Date about 1900-1910

Primary Maker Frances Hubbell

Medium Machine-stitched and hand-stitched cotton, with cotton crochet

Basic Detail Report

Description Woman's white cotton slip, with a plain, tubular body lightly gathered onto a nine-inch-deep yoke of white cotton crochet. The neckline is very wide and would have been controlled originally by a ribbon drawstring woven through the crochet. The armholes have a 3 1/2-inch-wide scalloped ruffle of the crochet for very short sleeves. A tuck of varying depth is hand-stitched around the hem to alter the slip's length. This may have been done by the original owner.

Dimensions Primary Dimensions (length x width across top x hem diameter): 49 x 29 x 75in. (124.5 x 73.7 x 190.5cm)
