Medium Machine-stitched printed cotton or cotton/polyester

Description Dress (.1): Woman's fitted dress of printed cotton. The dress has a wide jewel neckline formed by a folded bias strip of fabric. The bodice edge facing is sewn on with a scallop shape. The bias strip is attached to each of the upward fine curves, forming V-shaped indentations between the curves. The bodice is shaped by one bust dart from each side seam and one dart from the waistline seam at each side front, and side back. The sleeves are short and plain with small shoulder pads. There is a short center back zipper from the neckline and a zipper in the proper left side. The skirt front is made of six panels, three on each side. A pocket is formed by an overlapping of two pieces that form each of the side-most panels. The skirt back is constructed of four panels. The fabric is predominantly dark olive green with dark peach, light green, grays, and dark blue colors printed with black outlines to form abstract floral motifs. Belt (.2): Light green fabric covered belt with a silver pin. Fabric belt loops. Hanger tapes at shoulders. Hem tape.
