Description Men and women are seated in folding chairs on a stage. They hold musical instruments; music stands are in front of them. The conductor stands on a low platform in the center, facing the audience and holding his baton. The men wear suits and neckties. The women wear long gowns or blouses with long skirts. Some men wear eyeglasses. The shadows of the musicians are projected on the curtain in the background. The letters "NB" are at the top of the proscenium arch above the stage.
