form a nearly cylindrical rim. The coffeepot is decorated with a transfer-printed underglaze cobalt blue pattern titled, "State House Hartford" on the bottom.

The pattern shows a neoclassical, or Federal style, building. The building sits on a tall, stone first floor, with two brick storeys above it. The structure has a projecting portico with six columns, a balustrade, and four chimneys emerging from the roof. There are two tall trees on either side of the building and a fence in the background. A man with a cane or walking stick is standing on the lawn in front of the building. The pattern is printed twice on the outside of the coffeepot, once on each side. It is surrounded by various flowers and leaves on a field of blue. The coffeepot is also decorated with an additional border at the foot, neck, and rim. The border has various flowers and leaves on a blue background, with a final line of small, white, geometric shapes at one side of the border. The spout is printed with blue flowers and leaves, and the handle is decorated with multiple rows of blue dots surrounded by blue circles. The lid (b) of the coffeepot is round and domed. The same border found on the coffeepot is printed at the rim of the lid, with two additional clusters of flowers and leaves near the top. A small round finial is located at the top of the lid, and this is also decorated. The finial has a small cylindrical hole in the center. There is light crazing on the body of the coffeepot and lid, and a few cracks in the bottom of the rim of the lid. A small chip is missing from the tip of the spout.
