Date 1865-1870

Primary Maker Frank Wheeler

Medium Photography; each stereograph consists of two albumen prints on paper mounted side by side on card

Description Views form part of a 360 degree panorama of Meriden, Connecticut, taken from the roof of the town hall. Included are several churches with towers, steeples, or cupolas. A stone church is in the Gothic style. Houses with yards and fences fill the middle ground of most views. Laundry hangs on a clothesline in one image. In two photographs, large factories are in the the background. A mountain, probably Meriden Mountain, is in the distance in one view.
