Title Tatro Family Photograph Album

Date early 20th century

Primary Maker Unknown

Medium Photography; gelatin silver prints on paper, contained in photo album

Description The photographs collected in this photo album are of Amy Tatro as a young girl through the age of approximately ten, Alexander Tatro and Meta Heinze Tatro, other unknown individuals, and images from Hartford, CT. Amy can be seen in some photographs holding a doll, a violin, a flower, and sheet music. In other photographs Amy is standing next to a miniature Christmas tree, is wearing an American Indian costume complete with feathered headdress, is kneeling on a chair, and is posing outside. In some of the photographs there are individuals in a canoe, a woman holding a cat, unknown women posing with a dog, two unknown men with horses and cows, an unknown man wearing a uniform, and unknown women posing with a baby in carriage. Some of the photographs show 64 Vernon Street in Hartford, CT, which was the residence of the Tatro family, the Capital Building, the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Arch, a cemetery and headstone with HEINZE inscribed on it, and a train on the railroad tracks.
