

Basic Detail Report

Title House for Joseph Merritt, 100 Bloomfield Avenue, Hartford, Conn.

Date 1926

Primary Maker Cortlandt F. Luce

Medium Architectural drawings; pencil and ink on paper

Description Plans for a Colonial Revival residence. Notable features include a gambrel roof, attic dormer windows, symmetrical end chimneys, double-hung sash windows, and pedimented front door with pilasters and side lights.

Drawings in the set include front, rear, and side elevations, as well as basement through attic floor plans. The basement plan has a tool room, laundry, work room, mushroom cellar, heating rooms, closets, a lavatory, and storage areas.

Rooms included in the first floor plans are a pantry, kitchen, butler's pantry, library, dining room, living room, portch, closets, and a lavatory. The second floor has four chambers (bedrooms), two bathrooms, closets, and a sewing room. Rooms in the attic include two chambers, a lavatory, bathroom, and closets. The set also features alternate plans.

Basic Detail Report

Dimensions Primary Dimensions (height x width): 21 x 24in. (53.3 x 61cm)