

Basic Detail Report

Title Map of the Towns of Saybrook and Old Saybrook, Middlesex

County, Connecticut

Date 1853

Primary Maker E. M. Woodford

Medium Lithography; black printer's ink and watercolor on wove paper mounted on fabric

Description Map of the towns of Saybrook and Old Saybrook, Connecticut, with

Chester to the north, the Connecticut River to the east, Long Island Sound to the south, and Westbrook and Killingworth to the west. The locations of streams, forests, and marshes are indicated. Some roads are named and buildings are labelled with names of property owners. The New Haven and New London Railroad and the railroad ferry and a steam ferry across the Connecticut River are shown. Separate detailed map show the villages of Old Saybrook and Deep River and the borough of Essex. Saybrook Fort appears on both the main map and the detailed map of Old Saybrook. Vignettes surrounding the maps depict Saybrook Point Lighthouse, Saybrook Bank in Essex, Grace Church in Old Saybrook, College Place at Saybrook Point, Deep River Bank, the Baptist Church in Essex, Union House in Essex (a hotel with a tavern sign), the Methodist Episcopal Church in Essex, the First Congregational Church in Old Saybrook, Pratt Brothers Ivory Works, S. M. Comstock and Company's Comb Manufactory, Jennings and Company's Manufactory of Augurs, Gimblets, etc., N. B. Pratt's Factory, R. S. Williams's Pump Machinery, George Read and Company's Ivory Comb Manufactory, and the residences of Ulysses Pratt, E. S. Williams, Rev. H. Wooster, O. Cobb, W. P. Vinal, R. E. Pratt, A. Sheffield, and Captain E. E. Morgan.

Basic Detail Report

Dimensions Primary Dimensions (image height x width): 46 3/4 x 42 1/2in. (118.7 x 108cm) Sheet (height x width): 48 3/4 x 45in. (123.8 x 114.3cm)