Description A woman stands beside the door of a two-story house with a one-story addition at the side. A second woman looks out a first-floor window. The doors on the main building and the addition are painted in contrasting colors. A covered pump is near the door of the side addition. A shed and a second outbuilding, probably a chicken coop, are to the left of the addition. A fence is just visible at the far right. A large, leafless tree is in the yard.
