Description Distant view of an industrial building seen from across a large mill pond. The stone mill dam is at the left with a wooden bridge across it. There appears to be a second bridge across the stream below the dam. The building with a cupola at the far end of the dam has a sign that reads: "Hop-River Warp Company." The building immediately to the left has a tall smokestack. Other buildings appear to be houses and barns. Trees at the right appear to be fruit trees, possibly apple trees. Board fences line the roads around the buildings.
