

Basic Detail Report

Title Mas Camp Exhibit Opening, Performance, and Graduation, 2015

Date 2015 August 27

Primary Maker Val Coleman

Medium born digital photography

Basic Detail Report

Description Photographs of the Mas Camp exhibition opening, performance, and graduation at the Connecticut Historical Society (CHS) on August 27, 2015. (.1)

Image of TT Baker, daughter of Mas Camp costume designer Q Delpeche, with her costume worn as the youngest member of the Exotic One's Band. (.2) Image of then CHS Executive Director Jody Blankenship with Val Coleman, Director of the Cultural Dance Troupe of the West Indies, viewing the exhibit. (.3) Image of the Mas Camp Exotic One's band Queen costume on display in the exhibit. (.4)

Image of Mas Camp Artistic Performance Director Harold Springer with his wife viewing the exhibit. (.5) Image of visitors viewing the slide show of images in the exhibit. (.6) Image of TT Baker standing with her father, Mas Camp costume designer Q Delpeche, outside the CHS at the graduation event. (.7) Image of Mas Camp co-director Junior Miller and Val Coleman, Director of the Cultural Dance Troupe of the West Indies, outside the CHS at the graduation event. (.8) Image of Tibetan artist KC (Kunga Choekyi) standing with the Mas Camp Exotic One's Queen costume in the exhibit. (.9) Image of Mas Camp educator and Exotic One's section leader Tanya Bynoe standing by her costume in the exhibit. (.10) Image of Hartford Steel Symphony performing outside at the graduation event. (.11-.14) Images of the Mas Camp participants, some in costume, receiving their certificates from educators Lerry Cooper, Tanya Bynoe, and Junior Miller. (.15)

Image of Hartford Steel Symphony performing outside at the graduation event. (.16) Image of then CHS archivist Barbara Austen with Mas Camp Exotic One's Queen and dance instructor Clerona Cain in the exhibit.