Basic Detail Report

Description Sixth plate daguerreotype of Leverett Brainard. He is probably in his mid-20s. He is wearing a jacket, waistcoat (with a watch fob and chain visible), white shirt with a standing collar, and a tie that appears to be silk. His hair is fashioned into the distinctive mid-1850s men's style, with a puff of hair at the center of the forehead. The rest of his hair is oiled (probably with macassar) and worn slightly long. His facial hair is worn in a fringe around his cheeks and chin, with a mustache and possibly a small beard under his lower lip (although that may be a shadow).

Dimensions Plate (height x width):  $3\ 1/4 \times 2\ 3/4$ in. (8.3 × 7cm) Other (case height x width x depth):  $3\ 5/8 \times 3\ 1/8 \times 1/2$ in. (9.2 × 7.9 × 1.3cm)
