

Basic Detail Report

Title Interview with Gregory Simones

Date 31 March 2025

Medium born digital audio file

Description Audio file of interview with Gregory Simones. He was interviewed by Eva Perkins on 31 March 2025 in New Britain, CT. Gregory Simones was interviewed as part of the Connecticut Museum of Culture and History's Community History Project discussing moments of change in his life. Professor Gregory Simones discusses his inspiration, passion and career trajectory as geologist. He speaks about his travels and what it took to follow his career path. He reminisces about his time as a student and compares it to the student experience in modern USA. He also points out the differences between living in Connecticut, versus living in South Carolina. Transitioning to an educator, Simones talks about the classroom connection or disconnection, his teaching methods, and how the new generation's focus has shifted to climate change. He shares his thoughts on political shifts and what it means to the geology field. He shares his approval and disapproval for podcasts, social media, and news media.

Dimensions Duration: 35 Minutes, 38 Seconds