Title Woman's Boots

Date about 1945-1955

Medium Machine-stitched cotton velveteen, rabbit fur, and cotton or synthetic flannel, with molded rubber sole and metal eyelets

Description Black velveteen ankle-high overboots, with a center front opening that is edged with black rabbit fur. This opening is laced through four pairs of metal eyelets with a black synthetic fiber shoelace tipped in plastic; it is backed with a black velveteen tongue. The upper is lined with brown napped fabric, similar to a flannel. The sole is black rubber, and is continuous over the edge of the upper for one inch. The interior platform of the boot is shaped to accommodate a heeled shoe.
