

Basic Detail Report

Title Lower Mystic.

Date 1834

Medium Drawing; pencil on paper

Description View of Portersville and the Mystic River. The river is the boundary line between Groton and Stonington and is transversed by the Mystic Bridge.

Several tall ships are in view. A windmill is at the right. A "Tavern" and the Mariner's Church ("M. Church") are marked. "Candle wood hill" and "Lantern Hill" are also labeled to the right. Although a note refers to the "Mystic Bridge"

(which Barber in his text describes as a toll bridge), the bridge itself is not clearly visible.

Dimensions Primary Dimensions (overall height x width): 7 1/16 x 8 11/16in. (18 x 22cm)
