

Basic Detail Report

Title Alligator tooth whistle

Primary Maker David Allen Starr

Medium dentin, enamel

Description Small alligator tooth opened at the bottom which looks like it had been pinked along the edge. A small hole near the tip of the tooth indicates its use as a whistle. Probably brought by David Starr to his wife Julia Wightman Jerome in 1881 on his return from Florida.

Dimensions Primary Dimensions: (Length) $1 \frac{1}{4}$ x (Width) $\frac{7}{16}$ in. (3.2 x 1.1cm)