Title Men playing African drums, Summertime Street Festival, New Haven

Date August 1993

Medium Photography; color slide in plastic mount

Description Slide showing three Black men, each of them playing an African drum as they walk down the street at night, presumably as part of a performance or parade. The two men on the left are playing djembes, one with ropes and one without. On the right, the man is playing what might be a talking drum. Taken during the Summertime Street Festival in New Haven.
