

A green military-style tunic with a black sash featuring various embroidered patches and insignia, including a red banner at the top with the text "CONSTITUTION". The sash also displays the number "467" and several circular and rectangular patches with different symbols, such as a yellow star, a red cross, and a yellow bird. The tunic has a high collar, a buttoned front, and a large pocket on the left side.

Basic Detail Report

Title Girl Scout Uniform

Date 1969-1970

Primary Maker MaryAnn Leesha

Medium cotton

Description Girl Scout uniform, a dress, with sash. Green dress eight buttons down the front, two flap pockets at the hips, and a Girl Scouts USA patch on viewer's right sleeve. Label on inside collar identifies the uniform as an official Girl Scouts uniform. Dark green sash with patches. Patches identify that the donor was part of Troop 467 in the Connecticut Valley Girl Scouts. Beneath the "Connecticut Valley" patch is the troop crest, a bird, then the troop numerals, and membership stars (two green and one yellow). Beneath the membership stars are two red, rectangular patches, then the Brownie wings patch. Beneath the wings are nine merit badges. (a) uniform (b) sash

Dimensions Dress (length of dress): 30in. (76.2cm) Other (length x width of sash):

5 × 24in. (12.7 × 61cm)