Title Woman's Drawers

Date probably 1857-1858

Primary Maker Julia P. Rogers

Medium Hand-stitched cotton with a glass button

Description Woman's white cotton split drawers. The drawers are cut of one length of fabric, folded in half, with the two ends sewn together to form tubes for the legs. The result is that the center back is extremely full and covers the seat like a flap. The waist is cut in a semicircle opposite the center back; the waist edge is finished with a one-inch-wide waistband, which buttons at center front. The legs are edged with scalloped eyelet embroidery below two tucks.
