Title Sign for Blatchly's Inn

Date 1788

Primary Maker Moses Blatchly Jr.

Medium Paint on pine board, unidentified hardwood frame, iron hardware

Description Images: both sides have two layers of imagery: on side 1, an allegorical female figure of Justice, over a fully-rigged sailing vessel; on side 2, an American flag, over a standing figure of a sailor leaning on an anchor, framed by panels of drapery. Construction: Single board, with single, molded, horizontal rails and turned posts. Board is set vertically and hand-sawn at top and bottom to create decorative pediment and skirt profiles. Board passes through full-width mortise cut through each rail and is held by nails. The rails are tenoned through the turned posts and secured at each joint by one pin. An original half-round applique is added at top of the pediment. Surface: Early twentieth-century restoration included complete overpainting of the allegorical figure on side 1, using heavy, opaque, shiny paints on both figure and lettering.

Repainting confused the sign by making simultaneously visible text from both eighteenth-century layers. Posts and rails were painted a bright turquoise blue, with a blue and red border added to the signboard.
