Primary Maker Belber Company

Medium Metal, cloth, press cardboard, tape, rubber, paper

Description Rectangular, brown corrugated style suitcase (.a) with keys (.b). (.a)

Outer portion of suitcase has rounded edges with four round metal studs attached to four corners of back edge, for standing upright. Lid of suitcase is attached by cloth stitching. Front of lid has two metal fasteners with springs, which secure into metal lock on base of suitcase. Bottom edge of suitcase is worn and is bordered with tape in order to keep insulation in. At the center front of suitcase there are two buckles for a handle that is no longer connected; instead a white, rubber coated cord is looped and knotted to the right buckle. Below this, imprinted in white are the initials, "W. A. W.". Inside of suitcase is lined with worn, blue/green satin with one large pocket attached to lid, and pockets around sides and back of base. Within left hand pocket are multiple metal tacks and hangers. At the top center of lid is a white cloth tag, stitched in
