Description Doorways are at the end of a hallway in a large building, possibly a courthouse. The doorway on the right leads into a room with rows of benches facing an Ionic-columned structure at the far side of the room. The doorway on the left leads into a hallway with doorways and a staircase at the left. Open doorways appear on either side. The door on the left reads "OFFICE". Electric lights are overhead. A clock, probably an electric clock, reads 2:45.
