Description Interior view of the library at Horace Bushnell Cheney's house at 78

Forest Street in South Manchester, Connecticut. The image is taken from the dining room, looking into the library through a doorway. Both rooms have wood floors, covered by decorative rugs. In the foreground, to the left, part of a dining chair is visible. Behind it is a buffet table, sitting against the wall of the dining room to the left of the doorway into the library. There are candles on top of the buffet, and a framed picture hanging on the wall behind them. The dining room walls are covered in a floral scrollwork wallpaper. A large desk or table is visible through the doorway, in the middle of the library. There is a lamp sitting on it and several chairs arranged around it. The back wall of the library is lined with short bookshelves that are filled with books. There are a few decorative pieces on top of the bookshelves and a few framed pictures on the walls. There is another doorway into the library, to the right of the bookshelves.
