

Basic Detail Report

Title Diagram showing changes in the course of the Connecticut River.

Date probably 1835

Primary Maker John Warner Barber

Medium Drawing; pencil on paper

Description Map showing the course of the Connecticut River between Hartford, East Hartford, Wethersfield and Glastonbury. The course in the 17th century is indicated by solid lines, wavy lines indicated its course in 1836. The Hockanum River is at the upper right and the locations of Keney's Cove, Keney's Island, Pratt's Ferry, the State Prison and the Meeting House are indicated. Notations include "heron shot here," "all worn over/ now good meadow," and "valuable fisheries now."

Dimensions Primary Dimensions (overall height x width): 12 3/16 x 7 1/2in. (31 x 19cm)