Description Two women and a boy standing on the porch of a three-story clapboard Queen Anne Victorian house. Double front gable peak with window has patterned masonry design in square blocks simulating half-timbering. The tower is capped with a turret. Porch supported with columns made to look like bamboo and has a banister railing with lattice base. A bay window on the left side of the front is topped with a banister railing. House has brick foundation and the tower a masonry block foundation. Sloping ground at back of house allows for walk-in basement. Small outbuilding in back on right appears to be an outhouse. Picket fence on left is double tiered with alternating height pickets. Pine trees in foreground.
