

Basic Detail Report

Title Blister Gas Protective Cover

Date 1943-1945

Primary Maker United States Army

Medium treated canvas

Description Duck or canvas cloth treated with a protective agent (plastic?).

These were issued by the Army during World War II to protect soldier's from a mustard gas or other vesicant agent that causes blisters. Unopened, as the red pull tag is still attached and the package sealed.