Title Miniature Print, Doll House Furnishing

Medium cord; paper; glass; paint; metal

Description A miniature chromolithograph that is meant to hang in the living room of a doll house. The print is a copy of "The Angelus" by Millet. There are two peasants, one male and one female, in a field bowing their heads in prayer. There are farming tools around them. The frame is a plain, gold, painted frame with two rings at the top. A green cord is attached to the rings, which is used to hang the print. Backing is a pale green paper.

Dimensions Primary Dimensions (overall height x width): 1 7/8 × 2 1/2in. (4.8 × 6.4cm)
