Title A View of the Buildings of Yale College at New Haven

Date 1807

Medium Engraving and aquatint; black printer's ink and color on paper in frame

Description Print of the buildings at Yale College in New Haven, showing five multi-storied buildings, two with spires and crosses or weathervanes atop each, with a clock on the front of one. A picket type fence runs along the lane in front of these buildings, and various people can be seen in the doorways and on the grounds. On the closer side men can be seen playing ball, and one is sitting on a rail type fence, with another leaning on it. The buildings are colored red, and one male figure in the foreground is wearing red trousers and holding a blue ball.
