Basic Detail Report

Description (a) Interview with Ninon Guinassi and Lizbeth Polo Smith.

Interviewed by Peter Moran on August 22, 2022 at the Hispanic Alliance of Southeastern Connecticut, 170 State Street, New London. Assisted by interpreter Susana Ormeño. (b) Photograph of Ninon Guinassi and Lizbeth Polo

Smith taken at their interview. They were interviewed as part of the Connecticut

Historical Society's Community History Project discussing their experience during the COVID-19 Pandemic. Ninon Guinassi and Lizbeth Polo Smith shared their stories of the COVID-19 pandemic in English and Spanish with the help of the interpreter, Susana Ormeño. Guinassi and Smith worked to create Ayuda, a direct aid arm of the Hispanic Alliance in New London County. They shared stories of their work, especially among undocumented immigrant communities who were barred from many forms of support during the pandemic. They also gave some perspective on their personal experiences.
