Description Color mounted slides of the Inchon Replacement Depot building in South Korea during the Korean War, 1952-1953. (.267) The front facade of the Inchon Replacement Depot building. Men in military uniforms and winter coats are walking in front of the building. Before the entrance is a small white fence that surrounds the perimeter of a flagpole. (.268) View of a section of a military camp. Supplies and barrels are behind a wired fence. To the left of the image is a woman carrying a child on her back. Camp buildings and overhead electric powerlines are in the background in front of snowy high-rise hills. (.269) A man with a goatee-style beard is posing in front of the Inchon Replacement Depot building. The man stands in front of a small white fence that surrounds the perimeter of a flagpole. He is wearing a dark blue jacket with matching pants, dark rounded sunglasses, black shoes, and a hat. He poses with his right arm on his hip. A small white sign in front of the fence reads in red text, "KEEP OUT." Soldiers in uniform are seen in front of the building.
