Title Maid's Uniform with Apron

Date about 1970

Primary Maker Gloria Holtsinger

Medium Uniform: Machine-stitched cotton, with metal zipper Apron: Machine-stitched cotton and polyester

Description Blue and white chambray cotton uniform dress (.a), with short sleeves, cut one with the dress, and center front twenty-inch zipper. The dress is fitted only with diagonal darts from the side seams. The round neckline is decorated with white bias tape stitched down to simulate a pointed collar. The front of the sleeves are similarly decorated. An apron (.b) was purchased by the donor to be worn with this uniform dress. (The apron was used, while the uniform went unworn.) It is a white cotton apron, with a short, rounded shape. The edge of the apron is trimmed with white rickrack and a two-inch wide band of self-fabric, stitched flat so it appears like a hem. The waistband is 1 3/8" wide and extends 3 1/4" beyond the top of the apron edge. The 28 1/4" long ties are wider than the waistband, and so are pleated into the waistband ends. The ends of the ties are turned up to form a point.
