Title Dress

Date about 1945

Primary Maker Frances J. Budleski

Medium Rayon, metal zipper

Description Woman's dress of slate blue rayon. The dress has a v-shaped neckline in front, created by overlapping panels stitched into the waistline. The short dolman sleeves are seamed just in front of the top of the shoulder; this shoulder seam is closely gathered near the neckline. The bodice panels are also gathered into the waist, which is encircled by a 4 inch wide band. The bias-cut skirt is fit smoothly into the waist and flares to the hem. The dress has a narrow, self-fabric belt with a self-fabric covered buckle. A zipper set into the proper left side seam fastens the dress. The dress has self-covered shoulder pads.
