Sound to the south, and New York to the west. The state is divided into counties, outlined in solid black lines and labeled in capital letters; and towns, outlined in thin solid black lines and labeled. Broken solid black lines are used as part of the boundary lines between Tolland and New London Counties and Middlesex and

New Haven Counties, but no explanation is given. Hartford and New Haven are both shown as state capitals. Canals, railroads and common roads are indicated with different lines but are labeled. Rivers are shown, with large rivers labeled.

Elevation is conveyed through hachure marks.
