Description Map of the town of Bristol, Connecticut, with Burlington to the north, Farmington to east, Wolcott and Southington to the south, and Plymouth to the west. The town is divided into twelve districts. The southeastern district is shown as "ANNEXED TO PLAINVILLE DISTRICT." Swamps, ponds, streams, and hills are shown. Elevation is indicated by hachure marks. The Providence, Hartford and Fishkill Railroad runs through town. Roads, including a "proposed road," are shown. Houses and businesses are shown with names of property owners. Vignettes along the upper and lower margins depict A. N. Platt and Company's Clock and Spring Manufactory, the Bristol Mining Company, Foote's Hotel, and the residences of E. O. Goodwin, L. Hubbard, Almon Lewis, Charles T. Foote, S. H. Carrington, R. E. Manross, E. L. Dunbar, and J. C. Brown.
