Title Photographers' Outing

Date early 20th century

Primary Maker Unknown

Medium Photography; gelatin silver prints on paper

Description A group of men with cameras are on an outing in the woods. In one photograph, the men and two young boys are eating sandwiches and drinking from mugs out of doors. Some men are standing and others are seated on the ground, surrounded by cameras on tripods. Leafless trees and a ramshackle wooden building are in the background. The same building appears in the other photograph, which also includes other buildings a bridge, a large pile of logs, a horse-drawn wagon, and laundry hanging on a clothesline. Men with cameras on tripods stand on the bridge.
