in many colors, including red, pink, dark medium and light blue, blue-green, light green, dark green, gold, yellow, tan, and cream. The headcloth is nearly square and embroidered with three vertical columns of four floral designs each.

In the center is a baluster-shaped vase containing a spray of flowers. The other, smaller designs consist of flowers and berries on stems with leaves. The headcloth is constructed of two panels of linen that were hand-stitched down the center together prior to the embroidery. Each side of the headcloth has a selvedge while the top and bottom each have a 3/16-inch double-turned hem.

The top edge of the headcloth has three tape loops for hanging. Stitches: The principal stitch on the headcloth is outline; it also includes encroaching satin, roumanian (oriental), buttonhole, and long and short. Condition: Portions of the crewel embroidery, in the center, bottom center, and lower right corner have been reinforced with couching stitches in white thread through the ground.

Small areas of crewel wool are missing from scattered areas on the headcloth.

Some of the wool has been abraded and has started to unravel. Some of the crewel has faded.
