Title Andrew Frink House

Date 1946

Primary Maker Louis Grosvernor Frink

Medium Drawing; pencil, watercolor, and gouache on brown paper on cardboard

Description A large red house with a black roof featuring a central stone chimney, multiple windows, and two front entrances, each reached by small stone steps. In front of the main entrance sits a sturdy square stone well positioned at the junction of three winding pathways that cross the green grounds. To the left of the house stands a thick tree, possibly a birch, with a hammock suspended from its trunk. Behind it rises another large red house, also lined with several windows.
