Title Columbia Lake

Date 1935

Primary Maker Louis Grosvernor Frink

Medium Drawing; pencil, watercolor, and gouache on brown paper on cardboard

Description A wide lake stretches across the scene, dotted with several canoes in black, red, and green. In the foreground, two figures paddle a red canoe. To their left, two people stand balanced on a black canoe, while just behind them another pair sits in a red one. On the far right, green and red canoes are pulled ashore beside a cluster of lush birch trees. Across the water, a few houses and additional trees line the distant shore. On verso is a small white house nestled among a green landscape and slender trees.
