

Basic Detail Report

Title G. Fox and Company Store on Centinel Hill

Date 1947

Primary Maker HH Art Studios Inc.

Medium Drawing; ink and gouache with graphite on white wove paper mounted to board

Description Drawing of a winter scene with buildings on Main Street in downtown Hartford. A small wood frame building with a gambrel roof at the center represents the first store started by Gerson Fox in 1847 that became G. Fox & Co. There are several people that appear to be in period clothing by the building, and a horse drawn sleigh moving away from it. A patch of empty space on the drawing around the building makes it appear to glow. Surrounding the small building are other larger buildings, including an eleven story building with a marquee to the right, with several people walking by and two automobiles

Basic Detail Report

parked on the street. The walkway over Talcott Street is partially visible between the buildings. There is snow falling across the scene.

Dimensions Primary Dimensions (height x width): 15 x 21 7/8in. (38.1 x 55.6cm)