Description Map of Manchester, Connecticut, from the town line of South Windsor to the north, Vernon and Bolton to the east, Glastonbury (spelled "Glastenbury" on the map) to the south, and East Hartford to the west. The town is divided into districts: the Oakland District, North West District, North District, East District, West District, South East District, South West District, South District and Birch Mountain District. Roads worth noting include the Providence Turnpike, Tolland Turnpike, and the south road to Hartford. The Hockanum River runs southwest through town toward East Hartford. The Hartford and Providence Railroad runs east-west through town. Residences are marked with circles and the owner's name. Cemeteries, schoolhouses, mills, churches, and Wyllys Copper Mine are depicted, as well.
