Title A Correct Map of the Underground Excavation at the Phoenix Mine

Date 1831

Primary Maker Amasa Holcomb

Medium Drawing; black ink and water color on paper, lined with paper

Description Map of the Phoenix Copper Mine in Granby, Connecticut, showing the mine from above. The letters B-F, H, L and M appear on the map, though there is no indication of what they represent. Several parts of the mine are labeled, including the north and south sounding rooms, the mouth of the old shaft, an unexplored part of the old shaft, a pillar, and the foot of a ladder on the west side of the mine.
