Title Plan of a proposed Turnpike road leading from New Haven City to Chapman's Ferry at Connecticut River

Date 1817

Primary Maker Unknown

Medium Drawings; black ink and watercolor on paper

Description Map in two pieces showing a proposed turnpike road as it was suggested to run from Olive Street in New Haven, Connecticut, to a spot near the Connecticut River. The Mill and Dragon Rivers are shown near New Haven. The Hammonasset and Farm Rivers are also depicted. Along the road, some residences are depicted with small drawings of the buildings, with the owner's name next to it. One church is shown but not labeled. Turkey Hill and the "Pinnacle of Haddam" are labeled and located close to the Connecticut River. Town lines are included but the names of the towns are not. Another turnpike road is shown crossing the one surveyed. At the bottom of part a is the Explanation.
