Title Views of Military Subjects and Civil War Monuments

Date 1860-1910

Primary Maker Daniel S. Camp

Medium Photography; albumen prints on paper on cardboard mounts

Description Photographs of men in military uniforms, some with rifles, many in tents. Some photographs may be from the Civil War era but most probably show

Connecticut National Guard encampments in Hampton or Niantic. One photograph showing a formation of soldiers is identified as the Hartford City

Guard and may show maneuvers in Bushnell Park. Some photographs include women. Some show Civil War monuments, one with a crane above it and a workman standing on a ladder beside it. One monument is decorated with garlands. Part of the John S. Craig Collection.
