Title Map and Profile of the Pomperaug River Crossing near I. Johnson's...

Date 1868

Primary Maker Charles E. Webster

Medium Drawing; black ink on wove paper

Description Manuscript map of the Pomperaug River in Southbury, Connecticut, showing the road between South Britain and Southbury as it crosses the river. The direction in which the river flows is marked with arrows, and a red line shows the course of the current at high water. Below the map is the profile of the river and high water line. Distances in feet and the amounts of fall in inches between points along the river (marked with letters A-E on the map and profile) are explained below the title.
