Basic Detail Report

Description Map of Simsbury with Hartland, Granby, East Granby, Suffield, and Southwick, Massachusetts to the north; Bloomfield (Wintonbury) to the east;

Avon to the south; and Canton and Barkhamsted to the west. Rivers, brooks, and ponds are shown and named. Hills and mountains are shown and named and elevation is indicated by hachure marks. Modern and early roads and Indian

route of the Farmington Canal is indicated by a broken blue line. Old boundary lines are shown and dated. Other features include the First and Second Fairgrounds, the McLean Game Refuge, the probable location of the Great Fort. A key gives the location of old houses with the names of the builders, dates, and names of current (1935) owners. A second key lists other places of interest. A compass at lower right indicates the direction of true north and magnetic north.

A scale of feet and miles is at lower right.
