Medium Drawing; pencil on paper

Dimensions Primary Dimensions (overall height x width): 6 11/16 x 13 3/4in. (17 x 35cm)
