Basic Detail Report

Title Bolton stone quarry.

Date probably 1836

Primary Maker John Warner Barber

Medium Drawing; ink on paper

Description A drawing of men at work in a stone quarry in Bolton. Men are shown pulling slate from a hillside. Two men in top hats in the lower left watch the use of long bows and a series of pulleys to move the stone. A horse or mule is tied in the distance in front of a white building.

Dimensions Primary Dimensions (overall height x width): 3 9/16 x 4 3/4in. (9 x 12cm)