Title Jim Lord and family

Date 1890-1915

Medium photographic print on board

Description (.12) Portrait of a young man in a suit seated on stone steps. He wears a shirt and tie, and his hands are clenched on top of his thighs. He is staring directly into the camera. Identified on the verso as Jim (Ulric) Lord. (.13)

Group portrait of four young men standing behind, the seated figures of an older woman (holding a book) and an older man, with a young girl between them. The girl is striking because she is dressed in white while the others are all in dark colors. There are braided rugs on top of a patterned carpet. Probably the Lord family. Jim Lord is identified on the verso as the young man in the back on the right. (.14) Portrait of two men standing behind two women with elaborate hats, gloves, and flowers in their hands. Then men are in dark suits with boutonnieres.

Taken in a studio. Jim Lord is identified on the verso as being the man on the
