Medium photographic print image

Description 2015.196.378.1: Image showing Antonia Sequeira (right) interviewing Mary Santos Sullivan while looking at family photographs, at Mary's home in July 1996. The interview was part of the Cape Verdeans in Connecticut Community History Project. 2015.196.378.2: Image showing a black and white portrait of Maria “Duducha” Teixeira, an experienced singer of morna and coladeira from West Haven. Her first stage performance was at age 12. She trained as a beautician, learned five languages, and had six children. 2015.196.378.3: Image showing a Cape Verdean pano, a woven cloth from the islands that was traditionally used in dancing. The pano is tied around a dancer's waist or folded and beaten as a drum, especially on the island of Santiago. This pano is in the CHS collection (2015.204.0), purchased for the Community History Project in 1999.
