Title Interview with Jorge Rosado

Date 2022 September 29

Medium born digital audio file

Description Interview with Jorge Rosado. Interviewed by Kathleen Capon on September 29, 2022 at Catholic Charities Diocese Willimantic office, Willimantic, Connecticut. He was interviewed as part of the Connecticut Historical Society's Community History Project discussing his experience during the COVID-19 Pandemic. Jorge heard about COVID on the news and his mother told him about it. Jorge's mother provided a lot of information to Jorge throughout the pandemic. He recalled being scared that he would catch COVID and it would kill him. Jorge's cousin had COVID, but was asymptomatic and unknowingly spread it to family members. Jorge protected himself by wearing a mask, social distancing, and trusting God to protect him. He did not vote in the 2020 election and didn't follow politics. Jorge used drugs to help relieve his pain and worries. He found that he was more depressed and anxious because of the pandemic. Jorge also relied on his faith throughout the pandemic. He described the pandemic as a "death sentence."
